NEW DIRECTIONS FOR THE CNF

The CNF Board decided, at the Biennial meeting in Malaysia in 2007, on a new strategic direction for the CNF. The Board wants the CNF to play a major role within the Commonwealth, influencing policy and raising the profile of nursing and midwifery.

Nursing shortages in many Commonwealth countries combined with nurse migration is placing critical pressures on nursing services. An increasing focus on community care and the introduction of new health worker classifications is adding to the difficulties faced by many Commonwealth national nursing organisations.

The Board wants to work more closely with national nursing associations providing 'in country' leadership, lobbying and governance workshops as well as workshops on nurse and patient safety. 'In country' workshops means many more nurses and many more workshops can be offered. The Board will also work more closely with other international organisations.
