REFORM OF MENTAL HEALTH LEGISLATION PROJECT

The CNMF was successful in obtaining a funding grant from the Commonwealth Foundation to work with the governments of Botswana and Seychelles to reform their mental health legislation in partnership with the Indian Centre for Mental Health Law and Policy. The projects are being overseen by National Mental Health Advisory Committees (NMHAC) established in each country. A website has been established to provide information about and monitor progress of the project (http://www.mentalhealthlawreform.org). The first meeting of the Botswana NMHAC was held in February and the second meeting of the Seychelles NMHAC was held in April.

GLOBAL CAMPAIGN TO END FEMALE GENITAL MUTILATION

As reported in the March edition of the CNMF e-News, 6 February was the Internal Day of Zero Tolerance for Female Genital Mutilation. The United Nations Population Fund has released a toolkit to assist nurses and midwives to participate in the global campaign to end female genital mutilation.

The toolkit has a number of key messages:

- Female genital mutilation violates the right to health and bodily integrity and is a form of violence against women and girls. It is nearly always carried out on minors and is a violation of the rights of children. The practice also violates a person’s right to security and physical integrity, the right to be free from torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, and the right to life when the practice results in death.
- Female genital mutilation exposes girls and women to severe and at times life threatening health complications, including haemorrhage, tetanus, sepsis, urinary retention, sexual dysfunction and infertility.
- Female genital mutilation has a direct impact on maternal mortality. Girls and women that have undergone FGM are 70% more likely to suffer haemorrhage after giving birth and are twice as likely to die during childbirth.
- Female genital mutilation has a direct impact on infant mortality. FGM is linked to higher rates of infant resuscitation, stillbirth and increased risk of death during and immediately after birth.

The toolkit contains suggestions for action at a global, regional and country level and has the following objectives:

1. Reduce the number of midwives performing female genital mutilation, including re-infibulation by 50%.
2. Double the number of midwives trained on FGM prevention and care.
3. Strengthen the capacity of midwives to serve as champions in female genital mutilation prevention.
4. Engage the Midwifery Associations in the 17 target countries in the global campaign to end female genital mutilation.
5. Increase the awareness of policy-makers on the key role midwives can play in female genital mutilation prevention and care.
