MATERNAL DEATH REVIEW PRACTICES AND PROCEDURES

A research team based at Robert Gordon University, Aberdeen, Scotland is carrying out a research project under the auspices of the World Health Organisation. The object is to identify best practice regarding maternal death surveillance and response, and maternal death reviews (MDSR/MDR) and to provide clear guidance on how MDSR/MDR policy and legislation may be implemented. An anonymous online survey is being conducted to assess the current level of awareness of MDSR/MDR and to determine contemporary practices. The findings will be written up in a report which will be published in due course. Readers of the e-News, particularly nurse and midwife readers are strongly encouraged to participate in the research by completing the survey at the link below.

MATERNAL HEALTH EDUCATION AND TRAINING IN LESOTHO

In July, the CNMF conducted two more maternal health education and training course this time in Lesotho. The updates were funded by The Burdett Trust and conducted in partnership with the Lesotho Ministry of Health and the Lesotho Nurses Association.

Twenty one nurses and midwives attended the first course with thirty one attending the second course. The course is a combination of presentations, group work, videos, self-reflection and practical exercises. The course covers woman centred care, antenatal care, intrapartum care, postpartum care, family planning, and care of the neonate.

The CNMF is planning to conduct four more courses as soon as possible: two in Malawi, and two in Tanzania. Ms Minnesha Yasmine, a nurse midwife from Australia, facilitated the courses with the support of nurse and midwifery educators in Lesotho.

WATER AID

WaterAid is an international charity that transforms lives by improving access to safe water, hygiene and sanitation. WaterAid has an excellent website full of useful information. Go to: <http://www.wateraid.org/>

On 15 July, Samantha Cameroon, wife of the UK Prime Minister, hosted a reception at 10 Downing Street in support of WaterAid to draw attention to the more than 660 million people in the world without safe water and 2.3 billion without a decent toilet. Professor Kath McCourt, Vice President of the CNMF, attended the reception on behalf of the CNMF. Pictured is Professor McCourt with Dr Mark Porter, Chair of Council, British Medical Association.

WaterAid is interested in stories from nurses, midwives and other health practitioners about issues related to the lack of clean water and sanitation and the effects on practice and patient safety. They are also interested in stories of innovative responses and solutions to the lack of clean water and sanitation. Email your stories to cnf@commonwealthnurses.org who will forward them to WaterAid.
